

METHOD FOR INHIBITING CORROSION USING PHOSPHOROUS ACIDAbstract of the Disclosure

5

The present invention relates to a method for inhibiting high temperature of corrosion-prone metal surfaces by organic acid-containing petroleum streams by providing an effective corrosion-inhibiting amount of phosphorous acid, typically up to 1000 wppm, to the metal surface.

10